Lautoka's Hidden Secret, the Northern Club

By Robert F. Kay

I stumbled upon the Northern Club by chance. I needed to huddle with a business partner in Lautoka but had no idea where to stay that was friendly, clean, reasonably priced and hopefully interesting.

A friend recommended the Northern Club. I didn't know about their accommodations nor did I know much about the organization. I decided to take a chance. Before I knew it, I was transported to Lautoka's historical and physical epicenter—its inner sanctum.

Steeped in history, this sprawling complex, located in the heart of Lautoka was once a bastion exclusively for white folks, mostly executives from the nearby Lautoka Sugar Mill.

It was a colonial country club, albeit rustic, where a "local European" or an expat could get snookered at the bar after work and bring the family over to the pool on and he weekends. It was a sanctuary for the ruling class.

It's still a haven from the frenetic hustle of Lautoka, Fiji's second largest city and center of manufacturing. However, the "white's only" policy started shifting the 1960s as "part-Europeans", members of mixed ethnicity, sought their rightful place in Fiji's political and social scheme of things. Following their integration in the organization, which paralleled Fiji's independence from Great Britain, slowly but surely other members of once disenfranchised citizens were welcomed.

Today the Northern Club offers all the pleasures of a recreational club to Lautoka's societal melting pot. This includes Rotumans, Fijians, Chinese, Indo-Fijians, part-Europeans and even Caucasians.

On a typical evening I observed an Indo Fijian family sitting around drinking beer, chatting away in Fiji Hindi while their teenagers, at the periphery of the table, blasted music videos on their mobile phones... Read More

A Halloween-themed poster for a 'Trick or Treat' event. The background is dark blue with a large full moon. In the center is a silhouette of a haunted house with a lit jack-o'-lantern in front of it. Various Halloween icons like bats, ghosts, a witch's broom, a hand with a 'V' sign, a spiderweb, a tombstone, and an owl are scattered around. The text 'Trick or Treat' is in a white, handwritten font at the top left. The Rotaract Suva logo and 'Rotary Club Partner' text are at the top right. A circular badge on the right says '$20 adult'. The main title 'HALLOWEEN PARTY' is in large, orange and white, dripping letters. At the bottom, it says 'Rotaract Suva is hosting a barrel night this Halloween in Aid of Rotaract Charity Chest to fund ongoing Community Projects'. Below that, '7 kegs • Rum Punch' is written in yellow. The date 'November 2nd 2018' and time '6:30pm - 9pm (or till beer runs out)' are listed. Logos for 'Onyx ENTERTAINMENT LIMITED' and 'Fiji GOLD' are at the bottom left. A note about door prizes is at the bottom right.

"Protect Fiji's fragile Coral Reefs by using All-Natural Fijian Bati Sunscreen"

THE ORIGINAL ALL-NATURAL FIJIAN SUNSCREEN

BATI
ECO-WARRIOR
SUNSCREEN
FIJI

Bati sunscreen has been used by indigenous Fijians for hundreds of years as protection from sun burns and painted on as a war mask. The all-natural ingredients can also be applied as a face cleansing scrub to detox your skin. Bati sunscreen does not harm the coral reef or damage our fragile eco-systems. Put your Bati face on and together lets protect our planet from destruction.
